Becoming a Quantum Healing Practitioner

Becoming a Quantum Healing Practitioner is one of the best decisions you can make. You are embarking on a journey to help people come into evolutionary consciousness. As a healer, you may also face your own growth and challenges. Learning the quantum healing tools and then mastering them is key to your own success as a healer. The energy healing tools you will learn from this program is unlike anything currently available. Your level of devotion to mastery will contribute to your success and the success of your clients.

As a Quantum Healing Practitioner you will hold yourself to a very high standard of healing. You are choosing to operate with a high degree of integrity and your values as a healer must reflect this. As you are using the tools created by Nicole Gayle, you will honor her work and her brand and never copy or expand upon her work independent of what you are learning in this program without written permission.

You are also choosing to operate above the "healing matrix" currently in the spiritual community which is coded in lower frequencies like co-dependency and poverty mindsets. When you write or share on Quantum Healing in order to get clients, you are choosing to reflect a high degree of professional presence as a sacred healer who operates with high quality. Your integrity as a coach/healer matters and therefore you must operate with a commitment to honor yourself, your work, your clients and the tools you are using in this training.

Healer Declaration

"I decree that I will honor God, myself, and my clients to the best of my knowledge and ability and hold all I do in the highest spiritual integrity."

Write out your decree, date it, sign it and share with your accountability partner.

Write out your decree in your notebook, date and sign.

Devotion to training

Your devotion to God is your primary devotion and in this way you are holding this as a holy calling and that you are being sent by God to help to serve the people.

Your devotion to your training including assignments, homework, and accountability must be of the highest. You are seeking to continually grow and you are operating in a spiritual energy of a deep desire to live in your soul purpose.

You are always seeking ongoing training and guidance for your highest good and for the good of those you serve.

Clients

To be a very successful healer, you will need to develop the skills of how to have a very good relationship to your target market and your clients. Being a healer is also about having a business and having a business is about having clients you can serve and help.

If you do not have the commitment to yourself to master your business, it will reflect in the quality of clients you have and how many clients you will serve.

Getting clients is the number 1 challenge for many healers. Many find themselves without regular clients because they haven't mastered learning about how to run a business. There are two key things you will need to learn how to master:

1. How to be a top level healer with the highest skill and integrity
2. How to run an amazing business

To run a business well, you will need to learn the correct skills to bring people to your services and offerings. This requires educating yourself about business. It is highly recommended that you take regular business classes to learn how to operate an online business so you can work with anyone from anywhere around the world. I also offer business coaching so you may take any of my free classes or join any paid business coaching I may offer. You may also choose to learn about business from any business coach you feel alignment with.

Accountability

Your accountability is a key to your success as a practitioner.

Working with your accountability partner:

You must have a sacred commitment to your accountability partner and choose to communicate effectively as well as do the work that is necessary to learn and practice the tools.

If you are facing challenges, seek to work for more harmonious resolution and the highest good of each other and the work.

This is about a higher purpose for the betterment of the world. If after working together, you find that you're not a good match, consult Nicole for further guidance.

Accountability

You will hand in all your assignments on time or communicate when you are not able to meet a deadline.

You will respect your partners time, energy and commitment to you.

You will work as a team to ensure you are practicing the tools and dedicate time to do so.

You will practice the tools on your own and do additional reading or study if necessary.

You will consult with Nicole Gayle if you have any challenges or further questions you are not able to get answers to in the training.
